PROGRAMME

COVID-19 AWARENESS PROGRAMME:

Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) is an infectious disease caused by a newly discovered coronavirus. Most people infected with the COVID-19 virus will experience mild to moderate respiratory illness. Fever, tiredness, dry cough, headache and body pain, running nose, sore throat, and diarrhea are the most common symptoms of COVID 19. The COVID-19 virus spreads primarily through droplets of saliva or discharge from the nose when an infected person coughs or sneezes. Older people and those with underlying medical problems like cardiovascular disease, diabetes, chronic respiratory disease, and cancer are more likely to develop serious illnesses. FAMILY WELFARE
PROGRAMME

Family Welfare Campaign:

Unsustainable population growth puts pressure on human communities, exacerbating food and water shortages, reducing resilience in the face of climate change, and making it harder for the most vulnerable communities to rise out of intergenerational poverty.

To address the problems of population growth and to motivate people for population control through contraceptive uses, Pragati Sansthan with the support of the department of medical and health, Baran conducted the 'Population Control Campaign' in all the blocks of the district Baran. In this campaign, Nukkad Natal & Group Meeting were organized in various villages. Information was disseminated about the problem of population growth, benefits of small family & two child norms, and various methods of population control including temporary methods; condom, oral pills, copper-T, injectables, safe periods, withdrawal methods as well as permanent methods; female sterilization and male sterilization.

Following benefits of small family and contraceptives were described in Nukkad Natak and meetings:

1. Women Empowerment - Women who can control the number and timing of their children can take better advantage of educational and economic opportunities, improving their own future and that of their families.
2. Promotion of social and economic development and security - High population growth hampers poor countries' economic development as their expanding populations compete for limited resources such as food, housing, schools, and jobs. Rapid and unsustainable population growth renders societies more unstable and can lead to greater civil unrest.
3. Environment protection - Since so many women worldwide want fewer children than their mothers did, increasing their access to voluntary family planning services will further slow population growth rates. A rapidly growing population exacerbates environmental degradation and strains the world's resources.
4. Improve maternal health and child survival - Contraceptives helping women avoid becoming pregnant too early, too late, or too often benefits themselves and their children. Meeting the unmet need for contraceptives reduces maternal mortality rate, infant mortality, and child mortality.
5. Reduce the number of abortions overall, especially unsafe abortions which lead to maternal deaths and injuries.
6. Prevent sexually transmitted infections (STIs), including HIV/AIDS - Improved access to condoms, both male and female, reduces the rate at which STIs, including HIV, are spread. Moreover, to the extent that HIV-positive women are better able to prevent unplanned pregnancies and births, they are also helping to reduce the rate of new HIV infections.

Drug De-addiction Center

De Addiction Programme:

It has been constantly observed that the current generation is into a lot of substance abuse which might not only hamper their future but the future of the entire nation per se. In this regard, Pragati Sansthan from time to time works for Drug and alcohol De-addiction especially for the youth of district Baran. Since 26 June 2014, the organization is working in this field with the help of various departments it has helped several people. To curb this problem the organization attempts to conduct programs and spread awareness about the harms of substance abuse. So far, to create awareness, the organization conducted several workshops, group meetings, rallies, etc at the district, block, and village level. In addition to this other IEC activities like banners and hoardings, wall painting, and slogan writing was also carried out by the organization from time to time.
